

A CHICAGO IDEA.

Chicago Inter Ocean.—The mode Democratic idea is that justice is not blind, but that she wears a monocle.

GETTING SCIENCE ALL OVER.

Kansas City Star.—There are still a good many Democratic voters in Missouri, but Cleveland Democrats are becoming scarce.

THE CORONER'S VERDICT.

Minneapolis Tribune.—"Overcome by gas" should be the verdict of the Coroner's Jury in the case of the United States Senate.

WHAT IT MEANS.

Troy Times.—Machine rule, secured by theft and other defiance of law, touches the pocket as well as the conscience of the state.

GOVERNOR BOIES'S BID.

Kansas City Journal.—Governor Boies has made a shrewd bid for a United States Senatorship. He pretends that his voice has fallen him.

ANOTHER REPENTANT.

Washington Post.—Hon. Wayne MacVeach appears to be looking for an opportunity to withdraw the campaign speeches he made last year.

THE DEMOCRAT PLATFORM.

Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat and Chronicle.—High crimes and high taxes are what the Democratic party offers voters in this state as a result of its rule.

THE PEOPLE'S SONG.

Galveston News.—The people are now singing to their bombastic Senatorial filibusters: Weary, so weary of waiting, Longing to crawl off and die.

A DISTRESS SIGNAL.

Omaha World-Herald.—Chauncey M. Depew says the Senate talks too much—and it is a pretty windy season when Chauncey M. Depew flies a signal of distress.

UNEASY.

Chicago Inter Ocean.—Governor Boies is anxious to know "what Mr. Jackson will do when he gets to be Governor of Iowa. Well, Boies won't have long to wait.

THE RECORD THAT HURTS.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.—If Morgan of Alabama was not so dull he would see that it is not his Confederate record, but his record in the present crisis, which hurts him.

A SUGGESTION.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.—The Democratic party would be in great luck if it could get the idea of indefinitely postponing a vote applied to the next Presidential election.

CAMPAIGN METHODS.

Texas Siftings.—In olden times a liar was legally punished by having a hole bored in his tongue. If this were the custom now the tongue of the Democrat stump speaker in Ohio would resemble a porous plaster.

PEPPER'S SPEECH.

Kansas City Star.—"Mr. Pepper resumed his speech." What a measure of melancholy and unhappiness is contained in this announcement. Of all sad words the proceedings teach, The saddest are "Pepper resumed his speech."

SOVING THE KEYHOLE PROBLEM.

Boston Herald.—Governor Lowell of Kansas has appointed a woman to the police force of Topeka, and it is presumed that her husband will not have so much difficulty in finding the keyhole after this.

SENATOR SHERMAN'S SERVICES.

Murat Halstead.—The veteran Senator from Ohio has recently rendered the country very important service. His demand that the Democratic party should do something or get out of the way was impressive, and will be historical.

PLANS FOR KNOWING WHAT HE IS THERE FOR.

Reading Herald.—Alas! how are the mighty fallen. Colonel Webster Plannagan of Texas, author of the immortal utterance, "What are we here for?" has been arrested for smuggling sheep across from Mexico in order to evade the tariff.

DR. PETER'S MISTAKE.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.—"I have never seen sleeping-car porters as insolent as those who have lately been here," says Dr. Carl Peters. Dr. Peters does not seem to know that sleeping-car porters here are men of wealth, and that the insolence of wealth is taken as a matter of course.

The Best Plaster.—Dampen a piece of fannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lines are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a fannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. CAUGHT AT LAST.

The Fire Fiend Who Has Caused Much Damage and Terror.

The reign of terror that has existed in Ohio opposite Springfield among the farmers is at an end.

The person who has burned $3,000 worth of property within the past week is now in jail in West Union, O., he having been arrested Saturday morning while in the act of firing his other's gristery, in which were stored several thousands bushels of wheat.

Marshall Thompson of Ripley and a Cincinnati attorney, were placed on the grounds by the insurance companies to catch the fire fiend if possible.

Saturday morning at an early hour, while Thompson was sitting on the side of a hill, he discovered Homer Kimbrell, the twenty-year-old son of Sam Kimbrell, bring the immense gristery, and immediately arrested him.

The boy confessed as soon as arrested, but could give no reason for his deed.

He has relatives in this city who say he is slightly demented.

Three Cool Bullets Entered His Vital Parts—"I Did It," Said Eugene Patrick Prendergast, as He Surrendered.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Another crazy crank has done his deadly work, and Carter H. Harrison, five times mayor of Chicago, and one of the best-known men in the west, lies dead in his home, No. 521 South Ashland boulevard. Three bullets entered his body, two of them making wounds sufficient to cause death.

The murder was committed Saturday evening by Eugene Patrick Prendergast, a paper-carrier, who declared that Mayor Harrison had promised to make him corporation counsel, and had not kept his word. This, he said, was his only reason for committing the deed.

The only persons in the house at the time besides Mr. Harrison were his son, William Preston Harrison, 35 years of age, his affianced wife, Miss Annie Howard, and his servant. Shortly before 8 o'clock the door-bell rang, and when Mr. Harrison, the domestic, opened the door she was confronted by a man.

"Is Mr. Harrison in?" asked the man, in a quiet, pleasant voice.

"Yes, sir," responded the girl as she threw the door wider open to permit his entrance.

"I would like to see him, please," said the man, as he walked toward the back end of the hall. Mr. Harrison was in the dining room, which opens into the rear end of the hall. He had advanced about ten feet from the doorway.

Without saying a word Prendergast drew his revolver and commenced to fire. He pulled the trigger but three times, and every bullet hit the mark. One ball splattered Mr. Harrison's left hand, another passed into his lower right side of the abdomen, making a wound that would have been mortal within a few days, the third bullet entered the chest, slightly above the heart.

This bullet was the immediate cause of death.

As soon as Prendergast began to fire Mr. Harrison turned and walked rapidly toward the dining-room. He walked through the door, across the dining-room and passed into a butler's pantry opening off the room, where, weakened by loss of blood, he fell to the floor.

Prendergast did not follow up his victim or make any attempt to ascertain how deadly his aim had been. He replaced his revolver in his pocket with the same deliberation that marked all of his actions and started toward the door.

Just as he was passing through the doorway William Preston Harrison, the mayor's son, came tearing down the stairs from the upper part of the house just as Mr. Harrison's coachman ran into the rear end of the hall. The cries of Mary Hansen directed the son to where his father lay, but the coachman was not so other game. He had a revolver of his own, and as quickly as he realized what had occurred he leveled his weapon and sent a bullet after the disappearing form of the murderer. A second time his revolver spoke, but both bullets went wild.

Running to the door the coachman was prepared to continue hostilities, but several people were entering to learn the cause of the shooting, and by the time the coachman had reached the sidewalk Prendergast had been swallowed up in the darkness.

Across Ashland boulevard, directly opposite the residence of Mr. Harrison, a house later owned by the wealthy maker of mining machinery, Mr. Chalmers was standing upon the front steps of his residence when the shots were fired. He bounded down the stairs, and dashing across the street, met Prendergast almost out of the gate.

"What is it?" said Mr. Chalmers.

The man walked rapidly north on Ashland avenue without replying, and Mr. Chalmers hastened into the house. He reached Mr. Harrison's side almost at the same instant that William Preston Harrison had found where his father lay.

"Are you hurt?" asked Mr. Chalmers, as he and the son of the dying man started to rush to the door.

"I got my death, Chalmers," responded the mayor.

Noticing a spot of blood on the mayor's waistcoat, Mr. Chalmers said: "I guess not."

"I'm about in the heart, and I'm a dead man," was the only reply.

A moment later Mr. Chalmers, whose voice which was rapidly losing strength: "Unbitten my vest, Chalmers. There's where the trouble is."

By this time the stricken man had been borne to a couch in an adjoining room, and as quickly as he spoke Mr. Chalmers opened his waistcoat. The front of his shirt was soaked with blood, which welled rapidly from two holes, one above the other, the other in the lower part.

"It's through the heart," said the mayor again, his voice scarcely above a whisper. A moment later he sank into unconsciousness and twenty minutes after receiving the wounds Mr. Harrison was dead.

Scott Thompson, the second porter on the John R. Hopkins, who was in Owensboro, Ky., committed suicide by jumping from the steamer when about five miles above Paducah. The body was found by druggists, and sent by mail on receipt of price, fifty cents and $1 per box. WILLIAMS' MED. CO., PROP.

ates as Prendergast did in the presence of the dead mayor's secretary as a witness. The man, who last week should be at once taken into custody, would go even further than this, and say that whenever a man showed signs of being a nervous crank he should be locked up, and his mental condition inquired into.
